

STICKS, STONES, SINEWS AND STUFF

WRITTEN BY SANDY MARTINEZ, 2001

Everyone needs food, water, shelter and clothing.

Long ago, people had to know where to find what they needed.

2

Berries, beans, nuts, and seeds were gathered.

3

They hunted animals and fished in the rivers, lakes, and oceans.

3

Stones could be used for hunting, cooking, building, and for protection .

4

Sometimes it was hard to find food, so people had to move.

5

Staying close to water was always important.

6

Animal skins were used for many things. 7

People needed to tie things together to make tools, weapons, shelter, and clothing.

Early string was made from grasses, leather and sinews from animals.

9

Can you think of other ways early people used their environment to get what they needed?
