

Where Are All the Lights? Student Sample

Cameras Action

Cameras, Action! Where are all the lights? Lights are everywhere. Most are found in the eastern part of the United States and on the West Coast. This is because these places are nice, flat areas with a main water source. People like to live in these places so they can grow crops and live easily. The more people there are, the more lights there are! These locations of lots of lights have a high majority of the people of America.